JACOB NESBITT PLEADS NOT GUILTY

CONFESSED SLAYER HELD WITHOUT BOND AFTER ARRAIGNMENT

"Hiv" Stokes Hears Plea
—Lunacy Board To Be Called

TROY, O., March 15.—Jacob Nesbitt was arraigned here today and pleaded not guilty to charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of his wife, Frances Drake Nesbitt. He was held without bond.

Nesbitt, who has confessed he slew Mrs. Nesbitt, was arraigned before Mayor H. G. Stokes. He was represented by L. H. Shipman, his attorney, who entered the plea for him.

The former salesman was returned to his cell immediately and in all probability will be taken before a lunacy commission this afternoon.

To the disappointment of the crowd that gathered around the city hall, the examining trial was held in the juvenile detention room at the jail.

Court officials, Nesbitt, Shipman and reporters made up the witnesses at the hearing.

In his first brief interview granted newspapermen Nesbitt said:

"It is a relief to have confessed. I feel so much better."

Nesbitt looked better than he has at any time during the three weeks spent in investigating the murder. He was cleanly shaven and his hair was brushed back smoothly. His suit was a perfect fit and was well brushed.

Prosecutor Leonard Harvey said he would decide today whether he would order a special grand jury impaneled.

Although Shipman has not announced what Nesbitt's defense will be, it was expected, as previously intimated, that the young salesman will plead temporary insanity.

Nesbitt today had rested well since Friday evening when he confessed to Detective Ora Slater that he killed his wife while in a "red" rage and placed the body in the bath tub.

"This jail fare isn't so bad," he told Sheriff Mont Spillman after dinner yesterday. "This is the first real meal I have eaten since it (the murder) happened. I couldn't eat very well while I was staying out at the Drakes."

Nesbitt, calm in demeanor, attended religious services held in the jail Sunday, by the Troy W. C. T. U. Rev. L. L. Dungan, who married the Nesbitts and preached the funeral sermon at Mrs. Nesbitt's funeral, visited the slayer.

"I am going to tell the truth from now on," Nesbitt said, according to the minister.

Investigators today still were puzzled over the police that Nesbitt was able to maintain despite the fact that he knew they were building a circumstantial case against him.

"It beats any dime novel I have ever read," Spillman declared. "It is hard to realize the steel nerve Nesbitt displayed, how he cleaned things up around the house and attended business the next day."

"Then he slept in the house," Spillman said. "The body of the woman he killed, lay in a coffin. Then he went to the funeral. He said he had done that Friday."

Custodian he joined reporters in afternoon, he said he had a guilty knowledge that he had committed the crime.

He even went to live with his mother-in-law and then to his home, where he was arrested and placed in the jail.

Police Chief Sharits has revealed why the white pajamas which Nesbitt said he had slept in Thursday night and which were found hanging in the bedroom of the slayer, were there.

Mrs. Nesbitt bungalow Sunday spent the night there. She was guarded by one from approaching family.

FIVE DEAD IN HOTEL BLAZE

Other Bodies Sought After Flames Destroy Shreveport, La., Hostelry—Many Guests Leap To Safety

SHREVEPORT, La., March 15.—With five known dead as a result of the fire which destroyed the Creswell Hotel here, firemen today are searching the ruins of the three-story building for possible traces of other bodies.

Cause of the fire has not been definitely determined.

Forty guests were in the hotel, many of them leaping to safety from the second and third story windows.

The dead: Jack Hutto, Escanaba, Mich.; Augustus Brichet, Cincinnati; Martin Lester, Shreveport; Thomas Hoskins, night clerk; D. H. West, address unknown.

WET SENATORS WILL ASK REFERENDUM ON DRY LAW SENTIMENT

Senator Edge Will Ask Authority For Action

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—A national referendum on prohibition will be sought in congress to ascertain if newspaper polls hitherto showing pronounced wet sentiment, represent the actual feeling of all the people, Senator Walter Edge, New Jersey, Republican and wet leader announced today.

Edge is consulting constitutional authorities in contemplation of introducing a joint resolution authorizing the states to conduct the referendum.

"The issue must be settled to the satisfaction of a majority of the people and a referendum of the way to settle it," Edge told the United Press. "I do not believe there is a precedent for congress conducting a rational referendum on anything, but authorization may be forthcoming."

The future course of the wets on the referendum proposal will hinge on the outcome of their plea for public hearing now being considered by a sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee.

"It beats any dime novel I have ever read," Spillman declared. "It is hard to realize the steel nerve Nesbitt displayed, how he cleaned things up around the house and attended business the next day."

"Then he slept in the house," Spillman said. "The body of the woman he killed, lay in a coffin. Then he went to the funeral. He said he had done that Friday."

SOLUTION NEARS IN DISPUTE OF LEAGUE ON COUNCIL SEATS

Sweden Will Resign To Admit Poland Is Belief

GENEVA, March 15.—League of Nations members believed today that solution of the dispute over council seats had been found during a two-hour secret session of the council. The proposed solution depends on agreement of the Swedish government, which has been telegraphed for approval.

The proposed solution would require Sweden's resignation from the council and the election of Poland to the non-permanent seat thus vacated.

Frans Van Deyvel of Sweden announced that the proposal was merely waiting to hear from Stockholm.

It was announced Tuesday's schedule meeting was called off, although it might be held on Wednesday. Sir Austin Chamberlain, the English delegate, was more definite than Van Deyvel.

"I think the situation is more hopeful," he said on leaving the conference, "but I would not hazard an opinion as to the direction in which the crisis might be solved."

The Tuesday assembly meeting was decided upon when all concerned were convinced that there was no further hope of friendly conclusion.

Postponement of the assembly meeting was announced following the council meeting which was distinguished by the fact that for the first time since the present league meeting the councillors emerged smiling.

TO GUARD AGAINST STRIKE VIOLENCE

PASSIAC, N. J., March 15.—Sheriff George P. Nimmon today is expected to send twenty special armed guards to the plant of the National Silk Dyeing Co., in East Paterson, where a major demonstration has been planned by textile mill strikers. Fifteen motorcycle police also will be on hand in case the demonstration materializes.

When an attempt was made to spread the strike at the same plant Saturday, the presence of officers armed with nightsticks, riot guns and revolvers had a deterring effect upon the strikers.

However, it was announced at Passiac headquarters that another picket line would be formed today and would march from here to East Paterson.

Sheriff Nimmon said he had instructed his men to prevent any intimidation.

MARBLE DEALERS MEET

CLEVELAND, O., March 15.—National Association of Marble Dealers began a two-day session at the Hollenden Hotel here today.

REPORT 178 KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

NEW YORK, March 15.—An excursion train carrying hundreds of Costa Rican natives to a fiesta, was wrecked on the Pacific Coast of Costa Rica, Sunday, killing 178 and injuring seventy-five others, according to an announcement of advice it had received, made here today by the United Fruit Company.

The wreck was on the Ferro-Darril De Costa Rica, a railroad line penetrating a section of Costa Rica seldom reached by tourists.

The natives had boarded the train at Alajuela.

Relief trains with doctors and nurses were sent from Port Limon, according to the United Fruit Company advice.

GIBSON CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP ON WINE PLATFORM

Ousted Prohibition Sleuth Favors Sane Program

COLUMBUS, Mar. 15.—On a platform favoring 2-3-4 per cent beer, home-making of wines, and "common sense" enforcement of all laws, H. C. Gibson, Westerville, ousted prohibition sleuth and former Anti-Saloon League lecturer, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Gibson was discharged summarily by State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, during the recent probe of the department's enforcement methods, refusing to assist at a private hearing of informal charges made against him, when he exposed an alleged attempt of department officers under investigation by Gov. Donahay, "to fix" testimony of witnesses.

Gibson made public seven planks on which he intends to run for the highest state office, most of them pertaining to the "sane" enforcement of present prohibition laws.

TREASURERS TO MEET

CLEVELAND, O., March 15.—(UP)—The annual conference of Ohio college treasurers will be held May 5 and 6 at the University of Akron, it was announced.

MOTHER LOVE WILL NOT DESERT BROTHERS WHO MUST FACE TRIAL FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER

By United Press
NORWALK, O., March 15.—When James and Leonard Lyons, youthful gunmen are placed on trial for the murder of Frank McGrath, American Railway express company detective, a bond of mother love—indissoluble from time immemorial—will bolster them through their ordeal.

Although James Lyons may be a killer, bandit and thief, and society may take his life and that of his brother, Leonard, their mother, her faith unshattered, will stand behind them, unyielding and ready to fight for them.

"There's another man to blame," Mrs. Lyons told Deputy Sheriff Frank Adelman. "You know who he is. Why isn't he in jail?"

Mrs. Lyons declared she would stick to her boys "to the finish."

WOMAN SURRENDERS AFTER KILLING MAN "IN SELF DEFENSE"

Shoots Brother-in-law After Attack On Character

By United Press
PIKESVILLE, Ky., March 15.—Calmly explaining that her "honor was at stake," Mrs. Virginia Coleman today told how she shot and killed her brother-in-law, Ernest Coleman in a pistol duel.

"He besmirched my character and then he attacked me," Mrs. Coleman declared. "I killed him in self-defense and I am sure no Kentucky jury will convict a woman for defending her honor and her self."

She shot her brother-in-law Thursday after he was convicted on charges she filed against him under the new Kentucky gossip law. Coleman, she declared, had told her husband, Mark, she was unfaithful to him.

At Coleman's trial the man with whom he alleged Mrs. Coleman intimate denied the charge.

Ernest Coleman returned from the trial on the same train with Mrs. Coleman. When they arrived at Greasy Creek she saw him at the station.

"You're guilty just the same," Mrs. Coleman charges he said. Mrs. Coleman drew a pistol and shot Coleman five times, then walked to the sheriff's office and surrendered. None of the wounds proved serious and she was liberated.

Mrs. Coleman was driving past her brother-in-law's home Saturday, she says, when Coleman strode on to the porch and emptied his pistol at her. Two of the bullets struck her horse.

"I wasn't frightened," Mrs. Coleman said. "I picked up my pistol and fired five shots over my shoulder. Later I learned I had killed him and I surrendered."

"I am sure no Kentucky jury will convict me."

Mrs. Coleman was slightly ill today but with all was extremely confident she will obtain her freedom. She is a small wiry woman, the true exemplification of the Kentucky mountaineer. Her husband is a mine foreman.

PETS SACRIFICED IN NEW YORK FIRE

NEW YORK, March 15.—(UP)—Five thousand canary birds, forty monkeys, and many parrots and other pets died in a fire today at Bartle's house of pets here.

Overcome by smoke and many burned to death outright, the birds and animals died while the men sought vainly to penetrate the building and answer the shrieks of the monkeys and parrots that sat up a bedlam.

When the fire was out and the smoke cleared from the building, firemen found ten monkeys huddled sorrowfully over the bodies of forty dead companions, hundreds of cages with lifeless bodies of birds lying in them and many more pets burned to ash.

PHANTOM SNIPER IS TRIED FOR MURDER

OMAHA, Neb., Mar. 15.—The "Phantom Sniper" who terrorized Omaha for many days—went on trial here today on a double murder charge. The state probably will ask the extreme penalty—death in the electric chair.

The sniper—who is being tried under the name of Louis Clark, alias Frank Carter—is on trial for the murder of Dr. A. D. Searles and William McDevitt, two of the victims of the deadly 22 calibre revolver which the sniper used. A peculiar twist of the trial is the fact that Clark's defense will be insanity although his legal defender is convinced the man is sane.

JEALOUSY LEADS TO TRIPLE SHOOTING

COSHOCOTON, O., March 15.—John Hughes, former marshal of the village of West Lafayette, who shot and killed his wife, Nellie, and seriously wounded Cecil Carr last night and then turned the gun on himself, died today. Carr is in a critical condition.

The shooting occurred at the home of Hughes' mother-in-law, Mrs. Albert Hartley, a widow, in West Lafayette. Jealousy was advanced as the motive today by authorities.

Hughes and his wife had been estranged for about six months, according to authorities.

The former marshal had threatened his wife, it was said, and was arrested several times after he beat her. Mrs. Hughes had filed two petitions for divorce but had withdrawn both of them.

HUTCHISON AND GIBNEY AND JOBE BROS. YIELD MORE THAN $1,000 LOOT

Professional Safe-Crackers Blamed for Double Jobs Here Saturday Night or Sunday Morning—Hutchison Safe Blown.

BURGLARS ENTER BY FRONT DOORS

Locks Pried Off and Then Replaced To Divert Suspicion—Robberies Discovered Monday—Safe Resists Nitro-Glycerine

Yeggs who broke into the Hutchison and Gibney Co., department store, N. Detroit St., and Jobe Bros. Co. department store, E. Main St., sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning, obtained merchandise and money upon which a total value of more than $1,000 is placed.

Using charges of nitro-glycerine, the safe-crackers blew open two doors of the large steel safe at the Hutchison and Gibney store but were thwarted in efforts to reach an inner compartment where a large amount of money was kept.

Careful check showed merchandise valued at $1,000 was stolen from this store, according to J. Walker Gibney, owner. Loot consisted of thirteen coats, eighteen dresses, ten dozen pair of women's silk hosiery, two traveling bags and one grip.

Twenty-six blankets were wrapped around the safe to muffle the explosions and three were damaged in the blast. Frustrated in their efforts to reach the bulk of the money, the yeggs took $7 or $8, the employees' party fund, kept in one of the safe drawers.

Safe in Jobe Bros. store had been left practically open and the cash receipts of the Saturday afternoon and evening sales were stolen in addition to one suit case. Officials of the store were unable to place an estimate on the exact amount of money taken but it is believed to exceed several hundred dollars. Checks in the safe were ignored. No other merchandise was stolen, it is thought.

Entrance was effected at both stores by the same method. Part of the locks on the front doors were pried loose and detached and the combination operated from the inside. In each instance the fastenings were replaced intact to divert suspicion and guard against possible early discovery.

Both robberies were "pulled" with efficiency and neatness. Police declare the "jobs" were evidently the work of professionals because of the manner in which each was perpetrated.

Robberies were not discovered until Monday morning when employees opened up.

Police investigation uncovered no particular clues which might lead to identification of the safe-blowers. Two strange men, well dressed, were seen in both stores Saturday night, employees say.

In Jobe Bros. store, the pair made a leisurely tour of the establishment but made no purchases, while in Hutchison and Gibney's store the men shopped for cheese cloth, employees of the store told police.

Police believe the robberies occurred either Saturday night or Sunday morning. Theory the thefts were planned for Saturday night.

The Story of a Girl Who Took Life Into Her Own Hands

Copyright, 1925, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE, a stenographer, has a misunderstanding with STEWART HOWE, whom she loves, because she has accepted the attentions of an older man.

PAT HAMILTON, who is a prominent politician, Mary finds that Hamilton's interest in her is the wrong kind, and runs away from him one evening when they are dining together. Soon afterward she loses her position, and gets another with

STANLEY BLAKE, who has just gone into business for himself. He meets

CELIA STEWART, and teaches her to set up housekeeping in two rooms. Celia meets Blake, and flirts with him. Celia some time later receives a beautiful Chinese jangling suit. Mary finds a card that has come with it, and reads it as she picks it off the floor.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XX—A BIT OF TRUTH

MARY was almost afraid to go to the door when the bell rang so violently. She felt sure that Hilda Lewis had come back after starting out so gaily only a few moments before with Pat Hamilton to go to dinner and the theater. And she just couldn't see Hamilton. Mary told herself, over and over, "She just couldn't."

Finally she dragged herself down the hall and opened the door, slowly.

It was Jim, Hilda's husband, who stood there, a suit case in one hand, his hat in the other.

"Mary! It's great to see you again!" He dropped the heavy suit case on the floor as he came into the narrow hall, and tossed his hat on a table. "Where's Hilda?"

"She's just gone out. She didn't expect you home tonight."

"No, I know it; I got home a day early. Say, has she gone out with Pat Hamilton?"

The tone of his voice would have been warning enough for Mary, even if his face hadn't told her that there'd be trouble if he knew where Hilda had gone. What could she say? She'd have to lie—

But Jim had brushed past her and into the bedroom. From the hall Mary could see him searching through the closet, snatching out Hilda's evening gown, her best wrap, her best suit—

Mary drew a deep breath. It wouldn't occur to him that Hilda had new things to wear tonight.

"Mary, I'm sorry for my rudeness; I'm doggone tired," he told her, coming back into the hall. "For a minute I saw red, I guess. But—well, let's forget it!" He laughed apologetically and turned toward the kitchen. "I'm starved; let's see what there is to eat."

He and Mary got dinner together. She found some chops in the refrigerator, things for a salad, some vegetables. Evidently Hilda had expected to have dinner at home, she told herself; Hamilton must have 'phoned at the last minute.

Oh, if Jim could just be kept from finding out where his wife had gone!

Mary wondered why Hilda had gone out with Hamilton, evidently in opposition to Jim's wishes, when she had such a nice husband as Jim was. He worked hard, he adored Hilda, tried his best to give her everything he could that he thought would make her happy. But because the other man had more money Hilda accepted his attentions—even his insulting way of speaking to her!

"I must figure out some way of keeping her from walking right in here and letting him know where she's been; she'll make him so unhappy if she does that—and he's too good to be made unhappy—" Mary's thoughts whirled as she broiled the chops and made the salad.

She hated deception, wouldn't enter into it on her own account. But it seemed to close around her. Celia and Stanley Blake, Hilda and Pat Hamilton—everything and everyone seemed to be conspiring to force her into deceit.

Jim ate heartily, and over his dinner told Mary about his business trip.

"It turned out better than I'd deserved to hope," he told Mary. "So well that I brought Hilda something she's wanted for a long time, that I couldn't afford. She's going to be crazy over it. Come into the living room and I'll show it to you."

Mary knew what it was even before Jim opened his suit case and took out the long narrow package (an embroidered shawl—but smaller than the one Hamilton had given Hilda that very evening, made of lighter weight silk, and with almost no embroidery).

Jim was pathetically pleased with it. He unfolded it and made Mary put it on and walk up and down the crowded little room.

"Isn't it pretty?" he kept asking her, over and over. "Don't you think it's a beauty, Mary? Won't Hilda be pleased with it?"

Mary told him that of course she would. But in her heart she knew that Hilda would much prefer the more beautiful shawl Hamilton had bought her. The fact that Jim had denied himself something he wanted to buy her the one he'd got wouldn't mean anything to Hilda.

"Oh, she mustn't hurt him. She must pretend that she likes this one better!" Mary told herself. And then she remembered that Hilda wouldn't dare let Jim know that Pat

Jim insisted on helping.

Hamilton had given her a shawl. She wouldn't dare let him find that out, or he'd be furious.

When dinner was over and the dishes were washed—Jim insisted on helping—Mary told him that she'd have to go. There were noises in the apartment; below that told her that her aunt and uncle had come home, she could go down there now. She didn't want to; she felt that unpleasant though her own little home had become, she'd rather go back there. But she must be on hand when Hilda came home.

She got her hat and coat and went out into the hall and down to the bend in the stairs, from which she could see the front door. She sat down there, to wait till Hilda should come home.

It was a wait of long dreary hours. Several other tenants in the building came home, but none of them knew Mary. One woman asked if she was locked out, and Mary said that she was, and refused the other's kind invitation to come into her apartment and wait till she could get in. Twelve o'clock, one o'clock—was Jim standing in the front window, watching for Hilda? If he was—

At last! A taxi stopped at the front door, a woman got out, and ran up the front steps. Hilda! Mary ran down the stairs to the first floor and faced her.

Then, too late, she saw that Hamilton had followed Hilda into the hall.

FESS DEFENDS GOODING BILL

Interstate Commerce Commission received sturdy defense from U. S. Senator S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, in the debate upon the Gooding long and short haul bill, in the Senate, Friday.

At the conclusion of Senator Gooding's four-hour address urging adoption of the measure, which would prohibit railroads from imposing higher rates for short than for long hauls, in order to compete with water transportation, Senator Fess defended the commission as "functioning properly" and being "fairly capable," in regulating railroads. He characterized as a "scarecrow" the fear expressed by the bill's opponents that requested railroad rate schedules would make the Panama Canal useless.

Remarking that he had been disappointed by the recent decision rejecting the proposed Van Sweringen railroad merger but had been convinced by study of its terms that it was right, Senator Fess deprecated the "habit" of some Senators who criticize the commission "for a ruling with which they disagree."

TOLD HIM "ALL'S WELL"

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE finished his first year as president in his own right last week. He looked upon the anniversary with satisfaction, as well he might. He had two important and comforting facts to look at. He had a successful year; he knew why he had had a successful year. This latter fact took the worry out of the prospect for the next year, and it gave a sound basis of comfort for the review of the past year.

The country always is looking for miracles in its president, and doubtless it always will be. Civilized and smart as we are, we are not yet so far away from the tribal days when we respected the big chief for the mystery of his actions and the glory of his paint.

Coolidge has tried running the country in a simple way, and it has worked. He has tried looking at the country's problems as a Vermont farmer would look at his problems—and it has worked. A good many of the correspondents, and quite a number of the politicians at large will have it that there is some "big medicine" about Coolidge; some pretense, some effort at magic. There isn't.

All those who have information about the country's business tell the president that things are running well and promising to run better. The country has borrowed some of Coolidge's state of mind. It is thinking quietly and thinking straight.

It is a good administration birthday.

PROTECTION FOR THE BIRDS

THE DEPARTMENT of agriculture estimates give 75,000,000,000 as the probable number of birds in the world, about forty times the number of people. They estimate that the number of birds in the United States will reach 5,000,000,000. Of course these figures represent only estimates—it would be impossible for them to be otherwise.

Birds are mankind's beautiful and close friends. They are not only beautiful, but they are of great value. Practically every bird is a costless, automatic, self-perpetuating bug and worm killer, without whose aid the country would soon swarm with insect plagues.

There should be laws to protect the birds all the year through and every year, too. The laws should be made so stringent that no one, at any time would be permitted to shoot and kill the birds that inhabit our country, it matters not of which section they may be a native.

ON FLORIDA

AND here's another one on Florida, clipped from "The Monthly Messenger," whatever that is, and submitted for your entertainment by S. Durward Hoag. It's only fair. Florida is the chin-whiskers of the United States. It is 600 miles long, 200 miles wide and three feet high. It is bounded on the north by the eighteenth amendment and on the other three sides by the three-mile limit.

Florida is inhabited by Indians, Americans, white men and feedbag tourists, sometimes called tin canners.

The reds live on the Everglades, the blacks live on the whites, the whites live on the tourists and the tourists live on municipal camp grounds.

Florida's principal sources of income are hot 's, fruits, alligator skins, tourists and the best press agents in the world.

Raising oranges in Florida is a cinch. All that is required is money enough to live on while raising the oranges.

The next Florida fruit in importance, is the grapefruit. This is a cross between a lemon, a dose of quinine and a pumpkin. It has the color and disposition of a blonde ticket seller at a moving picture theatre. The grapefruit is usually eaten at breakfast, thus giving the double advantage of a meal and the morning shower bath at the same time.

HOME OF FORMER
XENIAN BURNED

Residence of E. S. Davidson, former Xenian, at West Palm Beach, Fla., was damaged by fire, resulting from an explosion of a gasoline stove in the kitchen, according to word received by relatives in Xenia Friday.

Mr. Davidson is in the real estate business in Florida. He was bending over the stove when it exploded, and was slightly scorched, it is said. Resulting flames spread to the living and dining rooms while the upstairs rooms were also damaged by steam and smoke.

No estimate was placed on the total damage, which is entirely covered by insurance.

Chocolate Jumbles: Cream one-third cup of lard and rub into it one cup of granulated sugar. Add two squares of unsweetened-cake chocolate melted, and one tablespoon of milk mixed with two beaten eggs. Now sift two cups of ordinary bread flour with a pinch of salt and two teaspoons of baking powder. Add this to the mixing bowl with one teaspoon of vanilla and toss the dough onto a slightly floured board. Roll to one-third inch in thickness, sprinkle with granulated sugar, place on a buttered pan and bake in a hot oven from ten to 12 minutes (at 400 degrees if you use a Fahrenheit oven thermometer).

Rhubarb Pie Filling: When rhubarb is young and tender it need not be peeled for a pie filling. Merely cut it in half-inch pieces before measuring. Begin the filling by mixing together one well beaten egg, three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar, two tablespoons of flour, a pinch of salt and a pinch of ground nutmeg. Add this mixture to two cups of the diced rhubarb and stir well. Turn into a pie pan lined with ordinary uncooked pie pastry, cover with a top crust, and slip into a very hot oven (about 500 to 550 degrees Fahrenheit) and bake at this same high temperature for 30 minutes.

Macaroni with Tomato Sauce: Break macaroni in one-inch lengths (or use the elbow macaroni) and cook in boiling, salted water for 20 minutes. Drain in a colander and pour cold water through to separate the pieces. Then stir it into a bowl containing one and one-half cups of the Tomato Sauce given below. Also add one-half cup of finely chopped or grated mild American cheese. Turn the warm mixture into buttered casserole or baking dish, sprinkle lightly with buttered crumbs and bake 30 minutes in a medium-hot oven. Serve hot.

Tomato Sauce: Heat one-half can of tomatoes to the boiling point and add a pinch of baking soda. While it "fizzes" from the soda, stir into it the following ingredients mixed together: One cupful of canned chicken soup or left-over brown meat gravy, one slice of onion, one teaspoon of salt. Cook 15 minutes. Melt four tablespoons of butter in another pan, rub into this three tablespoons of flour, then add the hot tomato mixture and stir till thick. Add to macaroni.

Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

AGE
They say that youth is much the fairest age
And once I laughed and sang its songs of glee,

But youth long since has turned its back on me
To lead some other spirit on life's stage.

Now I am come unto life's middle page

And find much charm in all that I can see,

I still hold hope for joys that are to be,

Tomorrow's dreams my courage still engage.

Life does not lose its charm. There always stays

Some promise that we long to see fulfilled,

Some joy to hope for in the distant days,

Some little castle which we hope to build.

That old gray-beard half dozing through the day

Watches with joy his great grand children play.

Greene County History

FIRST COUNTY OFFICIALS

There is a striking difference between the number of county officials in 1803 and the number today while the difference in the salaries of each is also astonishing.

Janitor of the Court House now receives a larger annual income than that allowed the combined offices of county clerk, recorder and auditor in 1803.

One man was elected to three offices at the first county election one hundred and twenty-three years ago—clerk, recorder and auditor.

John Paul, proprietor of the site of the city of Xenia, was the first to perform the three-fold duties, serving in this capacity until he left the county in 1809.

James Galloway, Jr., became the first county surveyor, probably the most important office in the early history of the county. He was appointed by the associate judges at their meeting in August, 1803.

Benjamin Whiteman, William Maxwell and John Sterritt were the first association judges, elected by the General Assembly on March 6, 1803.

First county commissioners were Jacob Smith, the miller, James Snowden and John Sterritt, elected in 1804.

James W. Harper was the first probate judge, elected when this office was created by the constitution in 1851. A prosecuting attorney was provided for under the first constitution of the state. Daniel Symmes was the first man to serve the county in this capacity.

Office of county treasurer was not an elective one until several years after organization of the county, being first appointive. James Galloway, Sr., was appointed first treasurer at the initial meeting of associate judges in 1803. He held office until 1819.

Nathan Lammie was the first sheriff, William Schenk the first state senator and John Sterritt first representative.

Greene County did not have a Common Pleas Court judge until after the constitution in 1851. First judge was Francis Dunlavy, who was not a resident of the county but elected by residents of the district of which he was judge.

VALUES.

The successful man, and the happy man as well, must have a keen sense of values in this world or else he is bound to remain but one of the confused ones.

Character is a collection of values. It is an amalgamation of those qualities which, when rightly united, make for strength, gentleness, sweetness, idealism, fairness and forwardness.

All value loses much of its weight when a few values are confused.

We live in a very material world with physical calls and qualities all about us. Because of this, men have always craved something to balance it. And so we have our spiritual values, without which no man can be truly happy, truly progressive or great.

When all else withers and looks—and is—small in the material world, then it is that spiritual values come to soothe and inspire and make us go on where all was so dark.

The comparatively content, roving among commonplace fields, afraid to dare and risk, are not the ones who build cities, suffer privations for an idea, or who hang on when their cause seems lost.

All achievement is a daring thing.

Faith nurtures the brave.

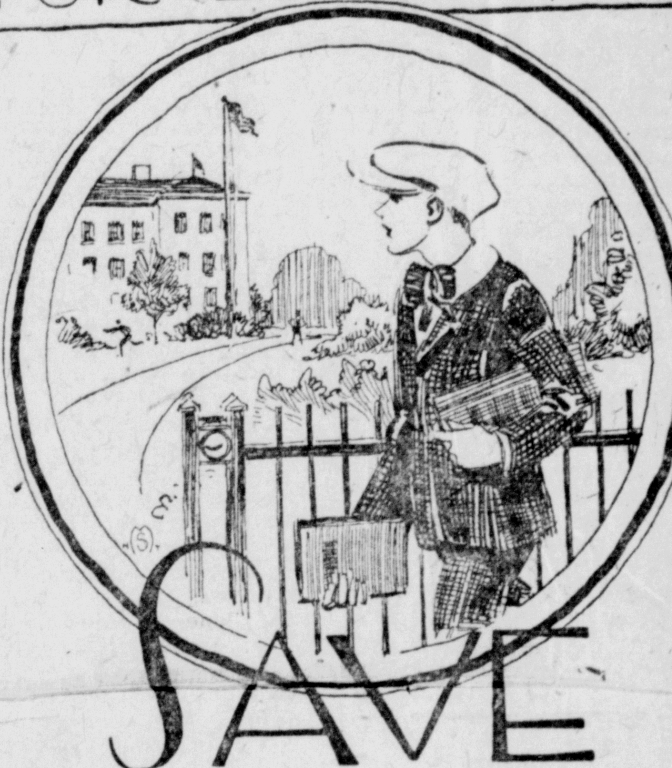

Get among the mountains and watch the soft and silvery clouds float over the snow covered tops of these huge children of nature and you understand God better. You put a different appraisal upon life and you go to your room, or book or friend, or loved ones at nightfall richer and more silently impressed with the vast chance in life.

We ourselves make values and be come a part of all values.

SURPRISE CONTEST SEES FAVORITES IN SHORT END OF SCORE

Teams Survive Semi-Finals After Close Contests

Springing a surprise, Ross Twp. High School boys won the twelfth annual Greene County High School Basketball Tournament, conducted at Antioch College, by defeating Bath Twp. High, the favorites, 31 to 26 in the finals Saturday night.

Beaver Creek High girls won the tournament championship in the feminine division by registering a 26 to 22 victory over Ross Twp. High in the finals.

Bath's defeat by Ross however, did not come as a complete upset. Ross won the recent tri-county tourney which brought together the cream of Class B basketball talent from Greene, Clark and Clinton Counties. Bath tired after engaging in six contests on three successive days.

Bath advanced the annual meet at Antioch in the boys' division in 1925 while Yellow Springs girls surrendered the title they had held for two straight years by losing in the first round.

Bath trounced Caesar Creek 24 to 13 in the morning round and registered a 16 to 14 victory over Cedarville, champions, in the county league, to participate in the finals. Ross survived its morning round by licking Beaver Creek 24 to 13 in the morning round and registered a 16 to 14 victory over Cedarville, champions in the county league, to participate in the finals.

Ross survived its morning round by licking Beaver Creek 23 to 11, and followed with a close 21 to 20 victory over Yellow Springs in the semi-finals.

Cedarville easily downed its first round opponent, Bowersville, by a score of 19 to 6 while Yellow Springs scored a 12 to 9 victory over Bellbrook to reach the semi-final matches.

Ross girls' team won its semi-final engagement with Bath by a one-point margin, 15 to 14, with Beaver Creek eliminating Cedarville girls 14 to 9 in the other contest. Beaver Creek's win from Ross in the finals was expected on the strength of the team's showing in the tri-county tourney. Beaver placed Ross out of the running in the semi-finals of this tournament.

Silver loving cups were awarded winners of first and second places in each division of the tourney.

GIGLI'S NEMESIS. The threatening letters which drove Beniamino Gigli, Italian tenor, from Detroit in fear-stricken panic are said to have come from no mere Black Hand gang, but from partisans of Maria Jeritza, Austrian prima donna (above). Bitterness still lingers between the opera stars from feud begun last season.

"Not Possible To Classify"
By Mack Sauer

Have you had a little Elimination Tea in your home?
They eliminate everything but the talk, so they never get through. We had one at our home. I went home at five and the ladies were still there. I went home each hour until 10 o'clock at night and they were still there.

I sneaked up the back stairs and went to bed. At 10:30 my wife brought her lady guests up to show them her new bed spread. They were all gathered in the room before she got in to switch the light on. Well she turned the light on and they didn't see the bed spread. But I saw them spread. You should have seen them go.

ELIMINATE THE TEA
Coffee is good Enough for me,
And they can eliminate
The tea.

The Elimination teas are for women only, but, after all, it's the men who are being eliminated. They don't get in on the affairs at all. But what man likes tea?

Each person who attends gives 25 cents for the hospital fund. This is done to take care of those who become sick from the refreshments that are served at the teas. A mighty good idea. A pie my wife served came near causing two casualties.

GO! GO! GO!
When to one of these teas
You are invited,
Be sure to go—
You'll be delighted.

The deuces may not be wild at the teas, but the women are.
If there is anything that can make more noise than a bunch of women at an Elimination tea it is an old-fashioned helling crowd. My, but they have fun. Fun is by no means eliminated.
You should go to one.

The Queen takes the Jack, but she only had to take 25 cents to the tea. That isn't much. It takes a lot of Jack to run the city hospital. And there is usually a full house at the hospital.

YOUR WIFE OUT, TOO?
At the restaurants I eat
Apple pie and cheese,
My wife's attending
Elimination Teas.

If the King says anything about you getting home late to get his supper, hit him with a spade or a club over the head, discard your diamond's, hold your heart, and send him to the hospital. Your 25 cents will pay the bill.

HUTCHISON STORE JOBE BROS. YIELD OVER 1,000 LOOT

may have taken place Sunday night was discarded with failure to find tracks in freshly fallen snow Monday morning.

Blasting of the Hutchison and Gibbey store safe and subsequent theft of merchandise came on the anniversary of a similar robbery at the store five years ago when eggs entered through a rear door and carted away a large quantity of stock.

High degree of efficiency in which the state-blowning job was executed lends strength to the professional eggheads theory.

Only enough "soup" was used to loosen the two outer doors from their hinges and break the combinations. Heavy wrappings of blankets muffled the explosions. Confronted with a third steel door which barred their way to the cash, the eggheads evidently became disgusted with what appeared to be the most difficult assignment of the three, and dropped their efforts. No attempt was made to break open the door.

In ransacking the Jobe Bros. store office a small cash drawer was pried open and investigated. It contained no money but was used to hold small change. The drawer was the only one locked in the office. Another tin box receptacle contained a small amount of change. It was bent open and the money scooped up. Locks on both stores were replaced to divert suspicion. At Jobes the custodian who opened up failed to notice the lock had been tampered with. At Hutchison and Gibbey's, the broken lock was wired into place to foil anyone trying the door.

Police have notified authorities of nearby cities. Hutchison and Gibbey store loss in stock is completely covered by insurance. Insurance on the safe was covered by the Ray Cox agency.

BOARD SEEKS TO TRANSFER FUNDS

Application has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the school board of Beaver Creek Township Rural School District through Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall for authority to transfer $1,900 from the teacher's retirement fund to the general fund.

In a resolution adopted by the board, it is declared there is more money in the retirement fund than more than anticipated and an overdraft of $1,900 exists, it is necessary, and as demands in the general fund are more than anticipated and an overdraft of $1,900 exists, it is necessary to make the transfer to pay the overdraft and take care of extra expenditures.

NOMADS MEET

CLEVELAND, O., March 15—(UP)—Nomads of Avardak of the Knights of Pythias, a sister organization to the Dokkies, meet here tonight to initiate between sixty and 100 candidates. The ritual will be administered at Pythian Castle, and members from surrounding Ohio towns will be present.

CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF SWEDEN WILL TOUR AMERICA

STOCKHOLM, March 15—The Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden leave Gothenburg on the 18th of May in the Swedish motor passenger liner Gripsholm for a two months visit to the United States.

They are following an invitation to be present at the unveiling of the John Ericsson monument in Washington on the 29th of June and wish to use this opportunity to visit different parts of the country.

Both of them look forward to the journey in the States with the keenest interest. They have never before visited North America and appreciate greatly the possibility now offered them to make acquaintance with the land and people which is playing an ever greater part in the world and where so many Swedes have found a second home.

On the 29th of May the Ericsson monument, a statue placed in the Potomac Park near the Lincoln monument, will be solemnly unveiled by the president with the Crown Prince and Crown Princess as chief guests.

From Washington, where the president will entertain them, their Royal Highnesses will return to New York for a few days stay and for visits to Philadelphia and Edison, and then they will start for a tour in motor car through the Eastern States, visiting West Point, New Haven, Yale, Newport, Worcester and Boston. From there they continue to Niagara, make a tour to Detroit, go on to Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Their itinerary then takes them to Yellowstone Park, Phelps Lake, Rock Springs, Salt Lake City, Cedar City, Zion National Park, Grand Canyon, Los Angeles and Sequoia National Park. Towards

The Theatre

When Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks return from their extended European vacation they are going to renew their efforts to adopt Mary Louise Miller, curly-headed youngster who played with Mary in "Sparrows." At present, the child's father a greaser, refuses to listen to their pleas and will not consent to the adoption.

If the Fairbanks adopt Louise it won't be Mary's first experience with children. She's a friend of all the "kids" on the studio lot and she also has played a big part in the rearing of her sister Lottie's child.

The Fairbanks' trip may take them as far as Russia. The Soviet has extended an invitation. Miss Pickford has a picture in mind which she may decide to produce in Europe. Ernest Lubitsch may do the directing of this.

Reports of Mary's retirement after that picture appear well-founded. Her "Little Annie Rooney" was just a cute "kid's picture". She's getting a bit too old for that sort of thing and unfortunately the public doesn't want to see her in a grown-up role. New York exhibitors aren't crowding each other for release rights to "Sparrows" which she finished a short time ago. Evidently it is pretty terrible.

Mary's wealthy in her own right and her husband will probably retain his popularity for several years to come so America's most beloved screen personage may soon pass from the silver sheet forever.

During and shortly after the World War, the public was surfeited with plays, novels and short stories, dealing with the great conflict. Peace brought reaction from war however, and the battle theme became passé. Now there seems to be a revival. Playwrights, producers, publishers, evidently believe that the war has dropped back far enough in history to be talked about again.

The Saturday Evening Post broke the ice with a series of war-time stories, laid on the battlefields. Then Lawrence Stallings wrote his "What Price Glory?" and now the same author has given us the picture play, "The Big Parade." The picture, like "What Price Glory," does not gloss over war conditions. It is a terribly realistic drama, saved only from tragedy by the romance brought to it by John Gilbert and Renee Adoree. Fans who see it, should keep an eye on Karl Dane, a newcomer to the films, who will bear watching.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day. Also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

NAVAL SUPREMACY IN MEDITERRANEAN SOUGHT BY ITALY

ROME, March 15—In spite of the very considerable increases in Italy's naval forces since the advent to power of Premier Mussolini, a new situation requiring a readjustment is to be expected in the Italian fleet after the year 1927, in the opinion of Vice-Admiral Sirlanni, Under-Secretary to the Italian Ministry of Marine.

In 1922, Italy's active naval strength consisted of five battle-ships, two cruisers, four destroyers and ten submarines. At the end of 1925, the effective naval fighting force was five battleships, 15 cruisers, 32 destroyers and "many submarines."

Mussolini's efforts to increase Italy's naval forces are revealed by these figures.

At the same time, many of the heavier units are becoming out of date, and according to Vice-Admiral Sirlanni, in the ordinary course of events, Italy will be in a weaker position navally in 1927 than she is today.

"From this year the navy will decline in power" said the minister, "and the most unfavorable position will be reached in five or six years. At the same time, there is no need to worry too much about it," and the Under-Secretary suggested that in the meantime steps would probably be taken to redress the balance of the various naval units.

On the question of submarines, Vice-Admiral Sirlanni confessed himself out of sympathy with any project for their abolition.

"I consider the submarine" he said, "exactly in the same light as any other weapon of war, and I can see no difference between the torpedo launched from a submarine by day and that launched from a torpedo-boat at night."

JACOB NESBITT PLEADS NOT GUILTY

CONFESSED SLAYER
HELD WITHOUT BOND
AFTER ARRAIGNMENT

"Hiv" Stokes Hears Plea
—Lunacy Board To Be Called

TROY, O., March 15.—Jacob Nesbitt was arraigned here today and pleaded not guilty to charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of his wife, Frances Drake Nesbitt. He was held without bond.

Nesbitt, who has confessed he slew Mrs. Nesbitt, was arraigned before Mayor H. G. Stokes. He was represented by L. H. Shipman, his attorney, who entered the plea for him.

The former salesman was returned to his cell immediately and in all probability will be taken before a lunacy commission this afternoon.

Due to the disappointment of the crowd that gathered around the city hall, the examining trial was held in the juvenile detention room at the jail.

Court officials, Nesbitt, Shipman and reporters made out the witnesses at the hearing.

In his first brief interview granted newspapermen Nesbitt said:

"It is a relief to have confessed. I feel so much better."

Nesbitt looked better than he has at any time during the three weeks spent in investigating the murder. He was cleanly shaven and his hair was brushed back smoothly. His suit was a perfect fit and was well brushed.

Prosecutor Leonard Harvey said he would decide today whether he would order a special grand jury impaneled.

Although Shipman has not announced what Nesbitt's defense will be, it was expected, as previously intimated, that the young salesman will plead temporary insanity.

Nesbitt today had rested well since Friday evening when he confessed to Detective Ora Slater that he killed his wife while in a "red" rage and placed the body in the bath tub.

"This jail fare isn't so bad," he told Sheriff Mont Spillman after dinner yesterday. "This is the first real meal I have eaten since it (the murder) happened. I couldn't eat very well while I was staying out at the Drake's."

Nesbitt, calm in demeanor, attended religious services held in the jail Sunday, by the Troy W. C. T. U. Rev. L. L. Dungan, who married the Nesbitts and preached the funeral sermon at Mrs. Nesbitt's funeral, visited the slayer.

"I am going to tell the truth from now on," Nesbitt said, according to the minister.

Investigators today still were puzzled over the police that Nesbitt was able to maintain despite the fact that he knew they were building a circumstantial case against him.

"It beats any dime novel I have ever read," Spillman declared. "It is hard to realize the steel nerve Nesbitt displayed, how he cleaned things up around the house and attended business the next day."

"Then he slept in the house where the body of the woman he fired killed, lay in a coffin. Then he attended the funeral of his wife, and he was with us and reacted what party said he had done that Friday. Custer, he joined reporters in aftermathing for the slayer, with is a go guilty knowledge that he had is nominated the crime."

Chief Sherris has revealed why he first became suspicious of the white pajamas in the which Nesbitt said he had slept St. Thursday night and which were found hanging in the bedroom.

Twisted. The pajamas, Sherris said, Mrs. Nesbitt was wearing when she was shot. He had forgotten serious and placed flowers there."

SHREVEPORT, La., March 15.—With five known dead as a result of the fire which destroyed the Creswell Hotel here, firemen today are searching the ruins of the three-story building for possible traces of other bodies.

Cause of the fire has not been definitely determined.

Forty guests were in the hotel, many of them leaping to safety from the second and third story windows.

The dead: Jack Hutto, Escanaba, Mich. Augustus Brichet, Cincinnati. Martin Lester, Shreveport. Thomas Hoskins, night clerk. D. H. West, address unknown.

Sweden Will Resign To Admit Poland Is Belief

GENEVA, March 15.—League of Nations members believed today that solution of the dispute over council seats had been found during a two-hour secret session of the council. The proposed solution depends on agreement of the Swedish government, which has been telegraphed for approval.

The proposed solution would require Sweden's resignation from the council and the election of Poland to the non-permanent seat thus vacated.

Premier Van Develp of Sweden announced that the proposal was merely waiting to hear from Stockholm.

It was announced Tuesday's schedule meeting was called off, although it might be held on Wednesday. Sir Austin Chamberlain, the English delegate, was more definite than Van Develp.

"I think the situation is more hopeful," he said on leaving the conference, "but I would not hazard an opinion as to the direction in which the crisis might be solved."

The Tuesday assembly meeting was decided upon when all concerned were convinced that there was no further hope of friendly conclusion.

Postponement of the assembly meeting was announced following the council meeting which was distinguished by the fact that for the first time since the present league meeting the councillors emerged smiling.

The satisfaction of a majority of the people and a referendum is the way to settle it," Edge told the United Press. "I do not believe there is a precedent for congress conducting a rational referendum on anything, but authorization may be forthcoming."

The future course of the wets on the referendum proposal will hinge on the outcome of their plea for a public hearing now being considered by a sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee.

M'QUIGG WARNS OF DISREGARD OF LAW

KENTON, O., March 15.—There never was a time in the history of America when law and order seemed so generally disregarded, John E. McQuigg, leader of the American Legion, said in a speech before the Northeastern Ohio Conference here.

"More than 11,000 murders were committed in America last year," the legion leader said, "and fourteen times as many as were committed in Great Britain; eleven times as many as were committed in Japan and five times as many as were committed in Canada."

REPORT 178 KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

NEW YORK, March 15.—An excursion train carrying hundreds of Costa Rican natives to a fiesta, was wrecked on the Pacific Coast of Costa Rica, Sunday, killing 178 and injuring seventy-five others, according to an announcement of advisers it had received, made here today by the United Fruit Company.

The wreck was on the Ferro-Darril De Costa Rica, a railroad line penetrating a section of Costa Rica seldom reached by tourists.

The natives had boarded the train at Alajuela.

Relief trains with doctors and nurses were sent from Port Limon, according to the United Fruit Company advisers.

GIBSON CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP ON WINE PLATFORM

COLUMBUS, Mar. 15.—On a platform favoring 2-3-4 per cent beer, home-making of wines, and "common sense" enforcement of all laws, H. C. Gibson, Westerville, ousted prohibition sleuth and former Anti-Saloon League lecturer, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Gibson was discharged summarily by State Probation Commissioner B. F. McDonald, during the recent probe of the department's enforcement methods, refusing to assist at a private hearing of informal charges made against him, when he exposed an alleged attempt of department officers under investigation by Gov. Donahue, "to fix" testimony of witnesses.

Gibson made public seven planks on which he intends to run for the highest state office, most of them pertaining to the "sane" enforcement of present prohibition laws.

MOTHER LOVE WILL NOT DESERT BROTHERS WHO MUST FACE TRIAL FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER

NORWALK, O., March 15.—When James and Leonard Lyons, youthful gunmen are placed on trial for the murder of Frank McGrath, American Railway express company detective, a bond of mother love—inexorable from time immemorial—will bolster them through their ordeal.

Although James Lyons may be a killer, bandit and thief, and society may take his life and that of his brother, Leonard, their mother, her faith unshattered, will stand behind them, unyielding and ready to fight for them.

"I don't believe Jimmy intended to harm anyone," the mother, Mrs. George Lyons, said today as she came to Norwalk to visit "Jimmy and Lennie" in the county jail here.

"I don't see why they jumped on him when he had them covered." James is not solely to blame for the McGrath tragedy, she declared. McGrath was killed when he attempted to arrest the boys at Havana, near here for the robbery of the Norwalk Express office.

"There's another man to blame," Mrs. Lyons told Deputy Sheriff Frank Adelman. "You know who he is. Why isn't he in jail?"

Mrs. Lyons declared she would stick to her boys "to the finish."

WOMAN SURRENDERS AFTER KILLING MAN "IN SELF DEFENSE"

Shoots Brother-in-law After Attack On Character

PIKESVILLE, Ky., March 15.—Calmly explaining that her "honor was at stake," Mrs. Virginia Coleman today told how she shot and killed her brother-in-law, Ernest Coleman in a pistol duel.

"He besmirched my character and then he attacked me," Mrs. Coleman declared. "I killed him in self-defense and I am sure no Kentucky jury will convict a woman for defending her honor and her self."

She shot her brother-in-law Thursday after he was convicted on charges she filed against him under the new Kentucky gossip law. Coleman, she declared, had told her husband, Mark, she was unfaithful to him.

At Coleman's trial the man with whom he alleged Mrs. Coleman intimate denied the charge.

Ernest Coleman returned from the trial on the same train with Mrs. Coleman. When they arrived at Greasy Creek she saw him at the station.

"You're guilty just the same," Mrs. Coleman charges he said. Mrs. Coleman drew a pistol and shot Coleman five times, then walked to the sheriff's office and surrendered. None of the wounds proved serious and she was liberated.

Mrs. Coleman was driving past her brother-in-law's home Saturday, she says, when Coleman strode on to the porch and emptied his pistol at her. Two of the bullets struck her horse.

"I wasn't frightened," Mrs. Coleman said. "I picked up my pistol and fired five shots over my shoulder. Later I learned I had killed him and I surrendered."

"I am sure no Kentucky jury will convict me," Mrs. Coleman was slightly ill today but with all was extremely confident she will obtain her freedom. She is a small wiry woman, the true exemplification of the Kentucky mountaineer. Her husband is a mine foreman.

PETS SACRIFICED IN NEW YORK FIRE

NEW YORK, March 15.—(UP)—Five thousand canary birds, forty monkeys, and many parrots and other pets died in a fire today at Bartel's house of pets here.

Overcome by smoke and many burned to death outright, the birds and animals died while firemen sought unavailingly to penetrate the building and answer the shrieks of the monkeys and parrots that sat up a bedlam.

When the fire was out and the smoke cleared from the building, firemen found ten monkeys huddled sorrowfully over the bodies of cages with lifeless bodies of birds lying in them and many more pets burned to ashes.

PHANTOM SNIPER IS TRIED FOR MURDER

OMAHA, Neb. Mar. 15.—The "Phantom Sniper" who terrorized Omaha for many days—went on trial here today on a double murder charge. The state probably will ask the extreme penalty—death in the electric chair.

The sniper—who is being tried under the name of Louis Clark, alias Frank Carter—is on trial for the murder of Dr. A. D. Searles and William McDevitt, two of the victims of the deadly .22 calibre revolver which the sniper used. A peculiar twist of the trial is the fact that Clark's defense will be insanity although his legal defender is convinced the man is sane.

JEALOUSY LEADS TO TRIPLE SHOOTING

COSHOCTON, O., March 15.—John Hughes, former marshal of the village of West Lafayette, who shot and killed his wife, Nellie, and seriously wounded Cecil Carr last night and then turned the gun on himself, died today. Carr is in a critical condition.

The shooting occurred at the home of Hughes' mother-in-law, Mrs. Albert Hartley, a widow, in West Lafayette. Jealousy was advanced as the motive today by authorities.

Hughes and his wife had been estranged for about six months, according to authorities.

The former marshal had threatened his wife, it was said, and was arrested several times after he beat her. Mrs. Hughes had filed two petitions for divorce but had withdrawn both of them.

HUTCHISON AND GIBNEY AND JOBE BROS. YIELD MORE THAN $1,000 LOOT

Professional Safe-Crackers Blamed for Double Jobs Here Saturday Night or Sunday Morning—Hutchison Safe Blown.

BURGLARS ENTER BY FRONT DOORS
Locks Pried Off and Then Replaced To Divert Suspicion—Robberies Discovered Monday—Safe Resists Nitro-Glycerine

Yeggs who broke into the Hutchison and Gibney Co., department store, N. Detroit St., and Jobe Bros. Co. department store, E. Main St., sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning, obtained merchandise and money upon which a total value of more than $1,000 is placed.

Using charges of nitro-glycerine, the safe-crackers blew open two doors of the large steel safe at the Hutchison and Gibney store but were thwarted in efforts to reach an inner compartment where a large amount of money was kept.

Careful check showed merchandise valued at $1,000 was stolen from this store, according to J. Walker Gibney, owner. Loot consisted of thirteen coats, eighteen dresses, ten dozen pair of women's silk hosiery, two traveling bags and one grip.

Twenty-six blankets were wrapped around the safe to muffle the explosions and three were damaged in the blast. Frustrated in their efforts to reach the bulk of the money, the yeggs took $7 or $8, the employees' party fund, kept in one of the safe drawers.

Safe in Jobe Bros. store had been left practically open and the cash receipts of the Saturday afternoon and evening sales were stolen in addition to one suit case. Officials of the store were unable to place an estimate on the exact amount of money taken but it is believed to exceed several hundred dollars. Checks in the safe were ignored. No other merchandise was stolen, it is thought.

Entrance was effected at both stores by the same method. Part of the locks on the front doors were pried loose and detached and the combination operated from the inside. In each instance the fastenings were replaced intact to divert suspicion and guard against possible early discovery.

Both robberies were "pulled" with efficiency and neatness. Police declare the "jobs" were evidently the work of professionals because of the manner in which each was perpetrated.

Robberies were not discovered until Monday morning when employees opened up.

Police investigation uncovered no particular clues which might lead to identification of the safe-blowers. Two strange men, well dressed, were seen in both stores Saturday night, employees say.

In Jobe Bros. store the pair made a leisurely tour of the establishment but made no purchases, while in Hutchison and Gibney's store the men shopped for cheese cloth, employees of the store told police.

Police believe the robberies occurred either Saturday night or Sunday morning. Theories of the "absolute clean."

THIRTEEN ARRESTS RESULT OF POLICE DRIVE OVER WEEK END

Police activities against liquor law and traffic regulation violators over the week end netted thirteen arrests for which fines imposed by Mayor John Prugh Monday morning totaled $156, excluding costs in the cases.

Ed Fox, Price Cummings, Glenn Johnson, Joe Foley and Kenneth Lyle were arrested Sunday by Patrolman Ed Craig and Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin on various charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Fox, charged with drunk and disorderly, pleaded not guilty but was committed to jail on an old fine. Cummings pleaded guilty to the same offense and was fined $10 and costs. Johnson was fined $10 and costs on a guilty plea of disorderly conduct. Foley received a fine of $10 and costs for intoxication when he pleaded guilty. Lyle, charged with drunk and disorderly, pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for 2 p. m. Monday.

John Dodge, 28, charged with operating an auto while intoxicated, was fined $50 and costs when he entered a guilty plea. His companions, Lasey Massie, 19, and Orle Litteral, 18, pleaded guilty to intoxication and were each fined $10 and costs.

burned in the gable end of the roof while a second patch of the roof was burned through over an area of ten feet. Firemen extinguished the blaze with chemicals. There was no water damage.

TOLD HIM "ALL'S WELL"

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE finished his first year as president in his own right last week. He looked upon the anniversary with satisfaction, as well he might. He had two important and comforting facts to look at. He had a successful year; he knew why he had had a successful year. This latter fact took the worry out of the prospect for the next year, and it gave a sound basis of comfort for the review of the past year.

The country always is looking for miracles in its president, and doubtless it always will be. Civilized and smart as we are, we are not yet so far away from the tribal days when we respected the big chief for the mystery of his actions and the glory of his paint.

Coolidge has tried running the country in a simple way, and it has worked. He has tried looking at the country's problems as a Vermont farmer would look at his problems—and it has worked. A good many of the correspondents, and quite a number of the politicians at large will have it that there is some "big medicine" about Coolidge; some pretense, some effort at magic. There isn't.

All those who have information about the country's business tell the president that things are running well and promising to run better. The country has borrowed some of Coolidge's state of mind. It is thinking quietly and thinking straight.

It is a good administration birthday.

PROTECTION FOR THE BIRDS

THE DEPARTMENT of agriculture estimates give 75,000,000,000 as the probable number of birds in the world, about forty times the number of people. They estimate that the number of birds in the United States will reach 5,000,000,000. Of course these figures represent only estimates—it would be impossible for them to be otherwise.

Birds are mankind's beautiful and close friends. They are not only beautiful, but they are of great value. Practically every bird is a costless, automatic, self-perpetuating bug and worm killer, without whose aid the country would soon swarm with insect plagues.

There should be laws to protect the birds all the year through and every year, too. The laws should be made so stringent that no one, at any time would be permitted to shoot and kill the birds that inhabit our country, it matters not of which section they may be a native.

ON FLORIDA

AND here's another one on Florida, clipped from "The Monthly Messenger," whatever that is, and submitted for your entertainment by S. Durward Hoag. It's only fair. Florida is the chin-whiskers of the United States.

It is 600 miles long, 200 miles wide and three feet high. It is bounded on the north by the eighteenth amendment and on the other three sides by the three-mile limit.

Florida is inhabited by Indians, Americans, white men and feedbag tourists, sometimes called tin canners.

The reds live on the Everglades, the blacks live on the whites, the whites live on the tourists and the tourists live on municipal camp grounds.

Florida's principal sources of income are hot 's, fruits, alligator skins, tourists and the best press agents in the world.

Raising oranges in Florida is a cinch. All that is required is money enough to live on while raising the oranges.

The next Florida fruit in importance, is the grapefruit. This is a cross between a lemon, a dose of quinine and a pumpkin. It has the color and disposition of a blonde ticket seller at a moving picture theatre. The grapefruit is usually eaten at breakfast, thus giving the double advantage of a meal and the morning shower bath at the same time.

HOME OF FORMER XENIAN BURNED

Residence of E. S. Davidson, former Xenian, at West Palm Beach, Fla., was damaged by fire, resulting from an explosion of a gasoline stove in the kitchen, according to word received by relatives in Xenia Friday.

Mr. Davidson is in the real estate business in Florida. He was bending over the stove when it exploded, and was slightly scorched. It is said. Resulting flames spread to the living and dining rooms while the upstairs rooms were also damaged by steam and smoke.

No estimate was placed on the total damage, which is entirely covered by insurance.

But youth long since has turned its back on me
To lead some other spirit on life's stage.
Now I am come unto life's middle
And find much charm in all that I can see.
I still hold hope for joys that are to be,
Tomorrow's dreams my courage still engage.

Life does not lose its charm. There always stays
Some promise that we long to see fulfilled,
Some joy to hope for in the distant days.
Some little castle which we hope to build.
That old gray-beard half dozing through the day
Watches with joy his great grand children play.

Chocolate Jumbles: Cream one-third cup of lard and rub into one cup of granulated sugar. Add two squares of unsweetened cake chocolate melted, and one tablespoon of milk mixed with two beaten eggs. Now sift two cups of ordinary bread flour with a pinch of salt and two teaspoons of baking powder. Add this to the mixing bowl with one teaspoon of vanilla and toss the dough onto a slightly floured board. Roll to one-third inch in thickness, sprinkle with granulated sugar, place on a buttered pan and bake in a hot oven from ten to 12 minutes (at 400 degrees if you use a Fahrenheit oven thermometer.)

Rhubarb Pie Filling: When rhubarb is young and tender it need not be peeled for a pie filling. Merely cut it in half-inch pieces before measuring. Begin the filling by mixing together one well beaten egg, three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar, two tablespoons of flour, a pinch of salt and a pinch of ground nutmeg. Add this mixture to two cups of the diced rhubarb and stir well. Turn into a pie pan lined with ordinary uncooked pie pastry, cover with a top crust, and slip into a very hot oven (about 500 to 550 degrees Fahrenheit) and bake at this same high temperature for 30 minutes.

Macaroni with Tomato Sauce: Break macaroni in one-inch lengths (or use the elbow macaroni) and cook in boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain in a colander and pour cold water through to separate the pieces. Then stir it into a bowl containing one and one-half cups of the Tomato Sauce given below. Also add one-half cup of finely chopped or grated mild American cheese. Turn the warm mixture into buttered casserole or baking dish, sprinkle lightly with buttered crumbs and bake 30 minutes in a medium-hot oven. Serve hot.

Tomato Sauce: Heat one-half can of tomatoes to the boiling point and add a pinch of baking soda. While it "fizzes" from the soda, stir into it the following ingredients mixed together: One cupful of canned chicken soup or left-over brown meat gravy, one slice of onion, one teaspoon of salt. Cook 15 minutes. Melt four tablespoons of butter in another pan, rub into this three tablespoons of flour, then add the hot tomato mixture and stir till thick. Add to macaroni.

FIRST COUNTY OFFICIALS

There is a striking difference between the number of county officials in 1803 and the number today while the difference in the salaries of each is also astonishing.

Janitor of the Court House now receives a larger annual income than that allowed the combined offices of county clerk, recorder and auditor in 1803.

One man was elected to three offices at the first county election one hundred and twenty-three years ago—clerk, recorder and auditor.

John Paul, proprietor of the site of the city of Xenia, was the first to perform the three-fold duties, serving in this capacity until he left the county in 1809.

James Galloway, Jr., became the first county surveyor, probably the most important office in the early history of the county. He was appointed by the associate judges at their meeting in August, 1803.

Benjamin Whiteman, William Maxwell and John Sterritt were the first association judges, elected by the General Assembly on March 6, 1803.

First county commissioners were Jacob Smith, the miller, James Snoden and John Sterritt, elected in 1804.

James W. Harper was the first probate judge, elected when this office was created by the constitution in 1851. A prosecuting attorney was provided for under the first constitution of the state. Daniel Symmes was the first man to serve the county in this capacity.

Office of county treasurer was not an elective one until several years after organization of the county, being first appointive. James Galloway, Sr., was appointed first treasurer at the initial meeting of associate judges in 1803. He held office until 1819.

Nathan Lamme was the first sheriff, William Schenk the first state senator and John Sterritt first representative.

Greene County did not have a Common Pleas Court judge until after the constitution in 1851. First judge was Francis Dunlavy, who was not a resident of the county but elected by residents of the district of which he was judge.

VALUES.

The successful man, and the happy man as well, must have a keen sense of values in this world or else he is bound to remain but one of the confused ones.

Character is a collection of values. It is an amalgamation of those qualities which, when rightly united, make for strength, gentleness, sweetness, idealism, fairness and forwardness.

All value loses much of its weight when a few values are confused.

We live in a very material world with physical calls and qualities all about us. Because of this, men have always craved something to balance it. And so we have our spiritual values, without which no man can be truly happy, truly progressive or great.

When all else withers and looks—and is—small in the material world, then it is that spiritual values come to soothe and inspire and make us go on where all was so dark.

The comparatively content, roving among commonplace fields, afraid to dare and risk, are not the ones who build cities, suffer privations for an idea, or who hang on when their cause seems lost.

All achievement is a daring thing.

Faith nurtures the brave.

Get among the mountains and watch the soft and silvery clouds float over the snow covered tops of these huge children of nature and you understand God better. You put a different appraisal upon life and you go to your room, or look or friend, or loved ones at nightfall richer and more silently impressed with the vast chance in life.

We ourselves make values and become a part of all values.

MODISH MITZI—The Fashionable Blue-oo-hues!

By JAY V. JAY

"I've had the blues,"..... plunges the Goofer wishing to imply that Mitzi is the cause. "They are so fashionable," interrupts Mitzi, the heartless, "you have no idea how fashionable!" By the way, that's why she is wearing this simple navy blue dress, with its odd neck that has a low-high collar.

Blue jewelry is also one of the newest of fashionable things. The Blue Grotto on the Isle of Capri lent its blueness to this jewelry. It's designed by a famous French couturier. The Goofer loves blues, indeed he does, especially on Mitzi. He never appreciated them before!

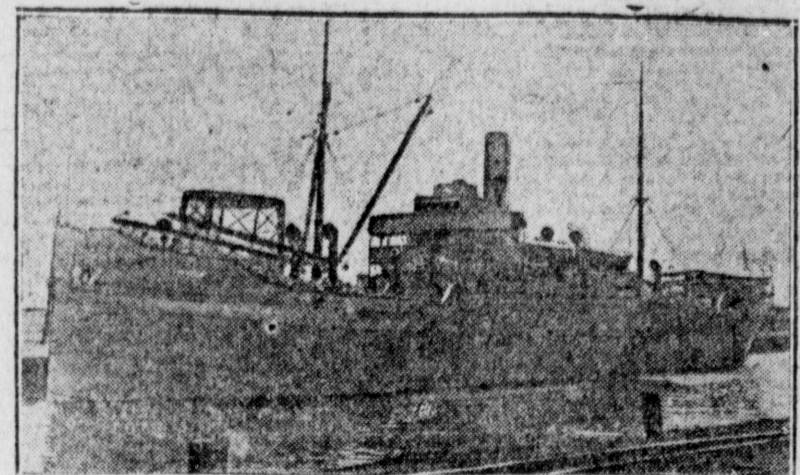

Mitzi is earnest in inspiring this admiration for blue. She shows the Goofer her bracelets and pins of "Butterfly Blue." The Goofer is fast becoming convinced that blue is the only hue in the world. Mitzi has made him turn that blue feeling into a feeling for blue.

Mitzi's Napoleon blue cape coat is another blue motif. They are going out to get something blue right away for the Goofer. A blue necktie, perhaps! If Mitzi says he must have blue, why blue it is. What does he care, if only he has something Mitzi likes? Blues? Sure, hell have 'em.

may have taken place Sunday night was discarded with failure to find tracks in freshly fallen snow Monday morning.

Blasting of the Hutchison and Gibney store safe and subsequent theft of merchandise came on the anniversary of a similar robbery at the store five years ago when yeggs entered through a rear door and carted away a large quantity of stock.

High degree of efficiency in which the safe-blowing job was executed lends strength to the professional yeggs theory.

Only enough "soup" was used to loosen the two outer doors from their hinges and divert the combinations. Heavy wrappings of blankets muffled the explosions. Confronted with a third steel door which barred their way to the cash, the yeggs evidently became disgusted with what appeared to be the most difficult assignment of the three, and dropped their efforts. No attempt was made to break open the door.

In ransacking the Jobe Bros. store office a small cash drawer was pried open and investigated. It contained no money but is used to hold small change. The drawer was the only one locked in the office. Another tin box receptacle contained a small amount of change. It was bent open and the money scooped up. Loots on both stores were replaced to divert suspicion. At Jobe's the custodian who opened up failed to notice the lock had been tampered with. At Hutchison and Gibney's, the broken lock was wired into place to foil anyone trying the door.

Police have notified authorities of nearby cities.

Hutchison and Gibney store loss in stock is completely covered by insurance. Insurance on the safe was covered by the Ray Cox agency.

BOARD SEEKS TO TRANSFER FUNDS

Application has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the school board of Beaver Creek Township Rural School District through Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall for authority to transfer $1,900 from the teacher's retirement fund to the general fund.

In a resolution adopted by the board, it is declared there is more money in the retirement fund than more than anticipated and an overdraft of $1,900 exists, it is necessary, and as demands in the general fund are more than anticipated, it is necessary to make the transfer to pay the overdraft and take care of extra expenditures.

CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF SWEDEN WILL TOUR AMERICA

STOCKHOLM, March 15—The Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden leave Gothenburg on the 18th of May in the Swedish motor passenger liner Gripsholm for a two months visit to the United States.

They are following an invitation to be present at the unveiling of the John Ericsson monument in Washington on the 29th of June and wish to use this opportunity to visit different parts of the country.

Both of them look forward to the journey in the States with the keenest interest. They have never before visited North America and appreciate greatly the possibility now offered them to make acquaintance with the land and people which is playing such an ever greater part in the world and where so many Swedes have found a second home.

On the 29th of May the Ericsson monument, a statue placed in the Potomac Park near the Lincoln monument, will be solemnly unveiled by the president with the Crown Prince and Crown Princess as chief guests.

From Washington, where the president will entertain them, their Royal Highnesses will return to New York for a few days stay and for visits to Philadelphia and Edison, and then they will start for a tour in motor car through the Eastern States, visiting West Point, New Haven, Yale, Newport, Worcester and Boston. From there they continue to Niagara, make a tour to Detroit, go on to Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Their itinerary then takes them to Yellowstone Park, Phelps Lake, Rock Springs, Salt Lake City, Cedar City, Zion National Park, Grand Canyon, Los Angeles and Sequoia National Park. Towards

The Theatre

When Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks return from their extended European vacation they are going to renew their efforts to adopt Mary Louise Miller, curly-headed youngster who played with Mary in "Sparrows." At present, the child's father a greaser, refuses to listen to their pleas and will not consent to the adoption.

If the Fairbanks adopt Louise it won't be Mary's first experience with children. She's a friend of all the "kids" on the studio lot and she also has played a big part in the rearing of her sister Lottie's child.

The Fairbanks' trip may take them as far as Russia. The Soviet has extended an invitation. Miss Pickford has a picture in mind which she may decide to produce in Europe. Ernest Lubitsch may do the directing of this.

Reports of Mary's retirement after that picture appear well-founded. Her "Little Annie Rooney" was just a cute "kid's picture." She's getting a bit too old for that sort of thing and unfortunately the public doesn't want to see her in a grown-up role. New York exhibitors aren't crowding each other for release rights to "Sparrows" which she finished a short time ago. Evidently it is pretty terrible.

Mary's wealthy in her own right and her husband will probably retain his popularity for several years to come so America's most beloved screen personage may soon pass from the silver sheet forever.

During and shortly after the World War, the public was surfeited with plays, novel and short stories, dealing with the great conflict.

Peace brought reaction from war however, and the battle theme became passe. Now there seems to be a revival. Playwrights, producers, publishers, evidently believe that the war has dropped back far enough in history to be talked about again.

The Saturday Evening Post broke the ice with a series of war-time stories, laid on the battlefields. Then Lawrence Stallings wrote his "What Price Glory?" and now the same author has given us the picture play, "The Big Parade."

The picture, like "What Price Glory," does not gloss over war conditions. It is a terribly realistic drama, saved only from tragedy by the romance brought to it by John Gilbert and Renee Adoree. Fans who see it, should keep an eye on Karl Dane, a newcomer to the films, who will bear watching.

On the question of submarines, Vice-Admiral Siriani confessed himself out of sympathy with any project for their abolition. "I consider the submarine" he said, "exactly in the same light as any other weapon of war, and I can see no difference between the torpedo launched from a submarine by day and that launched from a torpedo-boat at night."

At the same time, many of the heavier units are becoming out of date, and according to Vice-Admiral Siriani, in the ordinary course of events, Italy will be in a weaker position navally in 1927 than she is today.

"From this year the navy will decline in power," said the minister, "and the most unfavorable position will be reached in five or six years. At the same time, there is no need to worry too much about it," and the Under-Secretary suggested that in the meantime steps would probably be taken to redress the balance of the various naval units.

On the question of submarines, Vice-Admiral Siriani confessed himself out of sympathy with any project for their abolition. "I consider the submarine" he said, "exactly in the same light as any other weapon of war, and I can see no difference between the torpedo launched from a submarine by day and that launched from a torpedo-boat at night."

At the same time, many of the heavier units are becoming out of date, and according to Vice-Admiral Siriani, in the ordinary course of events, Italy will be in a weaker position navally in 1927 than she is today.

"From this year the navy will decline in power," said the minister, "and the most unfavorable position will be reached in five or six years. At the same time, there is no need to worry too much about it," and the Under-Secretary suggested that in the meantime steps would probably be taken to redress the balance of the various naval units.

NAVAL SUPREMACY IN MEDITERRANEAN SOUGHT BY ITALY

ROME, March 15—In spite of the very considerable increases in Italy's naval forces since the advent to power of Premier Mussolini, a new situation requiring a re-adjustment is to be expected in the Italian fleet after the year 1927, in the opinion of Vice-Admiral Siriani, Under-Secretary to the Italian Ministry of Marine.

In 1922, Italy's active naval strength consisted of five battleships, two cruisers, four destroyers, and ten submarines. At the end of 1925, the effective naval fighting force was five battleships, 15 cruisers, 32 destroyers and "many submarines."

Mussolini's efforts to increase Italy's naval forces are revealed by these figures.

At the same time, many of the heavier units are becoming out of date, and according to Vice-Admiral Siriani, in the ordinary course of events, Italy will be in a weaker position navally in 1927 than she is today.
